Proposed Publication

(Includes the literature, history, philosophy, religion, art and archaeology of antiquity.)

Working Title:

Concise summary: (A few sentences summarising the proposed publication. Why is this book necessary?)

Purposes and scope: (A more detailed outline of the proposed publication. Major themes, distinctive features.)

Contents list and chapters outline: (Please attach, and where applicable include any contributors and their affiliations. At least 300 words on each chapter, please. Concisely highlight key concepts, ideas, arguments and conclusions. If you have a completed or well-advanced manuscript we may request sample chapters.)

Please attach

Is your book based on a course and if a textbook please provide details of the related curricula, course titles and level.

Market Considerations

Why do you think your publication differs from others in the discipline?

How do you think your academic colleagues will receive your publication?

Who might read your book?

Academic practitioners and professionals specialising in your Classical Civilisation discipline

Scholars and/or professionals in Classical Civilisation disciplines other than yours

Undergraduates for course work or referencing

Graduate students

Other students

Are there any publications you consider somewhat similar to your publication? (If so, please provide details of their strengths and weakness.)

Length and content

What is your projected word length? (Including contents, acknowledgements, references, and bibliography. If an edited collection, length of each essay?)

Does your publication contain illustrations, tables, graphs or diagrams? (If so, what kind and how many?)

Do you intend to produce any adjuvant material or content? (These may include website, publicly available media, or other associated materials.)

Publication Status

How many words have you written?

When do you expect to complete the manuscript?

Have you obtained permissions for any content requiring them?

Has this work currently or previously been considered by another publisher? (If so, who, when and submission status)

Does any of the proposed work's material appear in any other publication(s) (Such as journals, edited collections, online - if so, details please)?

Do you have any future plans to publish any part of the proposed book in another publication?
